

OUTDOOR GAMES

FOUR SQUARE

YOU'LL NEED:

The great outdoors

A large playground ball

Chalk to mark off the squares

4 or more players

The player who remains in square 1 the longest wins!

HOW TO PLAY

To start, draw a large square on the ground with four equal parts inside numbered 1-4. One player stands within each of the four squares, with the player in square number 1 beginning. Player 1 bounces the ball once in their own square and then hits it into another player's square. The next player must then let it bounce once in their own square and hit it into another player's square. The game continues this way until someone makes a mistake of not hitting the ball when it bounces in their square, or hitting it out of bounds. This person must then go to square 4, or if there is a line, to the end of the line while the first person in line moves into square 4 and all other players move up one space.

DRAW THE SQUARE LIKE THIS:

1	2
3	4
